

MRS. HARRY M.

GOLDSMITH

OLD TOWN — Frances D. Goldsmith, 81, died May 10, 1984, at a Bangor hospital after a long illness. She was born in New York City, N.Y., Dec. 7, 1902, the daughter of Theodore and Becky (Dretzin) Drourr. Mrs. Goldsmith was a member of Temple Israel of Old Town, the Bangor Chapter of Hadassah and the Temple Israel Sisterhood. Surviving besides her husband Harry of Old Town are two daughters and their husbands, Harriet and Harvey Hillson, of Old Town and Carole and William Freedman, of New City, N.Y.; one brother, Robert Drourr of Newton Center, Mass.; seven grandchildren, Beth Hillson of Arlington, Va., Bruce Hillson of Rocky Hill, Conn., Jennifer H. Hudner of Glastonbury, Conn., Philip Freedman of Hackensack, N.J., Bette Freeman, Theodore Freedman and Evelyn Freedman, all of New York City, N.Y.; three great-grandchildren, several nieces and nephews. Funeral services will be held 12 p.m. Friday at the Jewish Funeral Chapel, Center Street, Bangor, with Rabbi Joseph Schonberger officiating. Interment will be in Beth Israel Cemetery, Bangor. Memorial week will be observed Friday through Monday at 63 Bradbury St., Old Town. Friends who wish may contribute in her memory to Hospice at St. Joseph Hospital, which is a support and caring unit for both the terminally ill patient and their family, care of 297 Center St., Bangor, 04401. Arrangements Brookings-Smith.