

Herman Samuel Silverman

Herman Samuel Silverman was born in Portland, Maine in 1902 to Mrs. and Mr. Harry L. Silverman, who was a cheder teacher. Herman studied at the University of Maine (Orono), where he graduated with an MA and served as Instructor in Mathematics. He also co-authored a book on investment theory. He married Ada Cohen of Bangor and they had a son, Harold. The family settled in Calais, where Silverman opened a successful wholesale retail auto and hardware supply store. He was an active member of the St. Croix Masonic Lodge of Calais and the Jewish community. He was also a strong supporter of the modern state of Israel. He passed away in 1959.